Caroline Downs
Doctor of Podiatric Medicine Candidate
New York College of Podiatric Medicine
Class of 2025

Caroline Downs is a student in the class of 2025 at the New York College of Podiatric Medicine. She grew up in Smithtown, on Long Island, New York and attended Stony Brook University where she double majored in Biology and Business Management with a focus in Finance.

During her undergraduate years she worked in a podiatry office as a medical assistant where she was exposed to the field of podiatry. Caroline has taken a special interest in wound care and hopes to pursue a career in limb salvage.
