Ronald Baraga Delannoy

Doctor of Podiatric Medicine Candidate
New York College of Podiatric Medicine
Class of 2025

Ronald graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Clinical Neuroscience from Virginia Tech University and is enrolled in the Doctor of Podiatric Medicine program at NYCPM.

During his time in Blacksburg at Virginia Tech, he served as an Undergraduate Student Athletic Trainer for their Division I football team, attending every practice with a focus on player safety and hydration, monitoring of physician player treatment plans and was responsible for pre- and post-game player treatments and rehabilitation needs.

At NYCPM, Ronald serves as a Teacher's Assistant and Residential Advisor. He serves as an Alternate Delegate to the American Podiatric Medical Student Association (APMSA), with responsibility for content and posting on social media platforms. He is fluent in Spanish.

In his spare time, he is an accomplished violinist and enjoys doing standup comedy.
